

Web/browser based Legal Files Web offers full functionality, customization and ease of use from anywhere

Legal Files Software, Inc. is proud to offer Legal Files Web, a totally browser based version of its powerful case management software, to the legal aid community. Legal Files Web can automate the unique legal aid process from start to finish, offering a complete, integrated intake module, along with an Eligibility Wizard that walks staff and volunteers through the intake process and can automatically calculate financial eligibility. Once an intake is accepted, all the entered information seamlessly migrates into an open case, eliminating the need to re-key the same information into a separate case management system.

Legal Files Web also offers the customization and flexibility legal aid organizations need and want, including an unlimited number of custom prompts and custom fields.

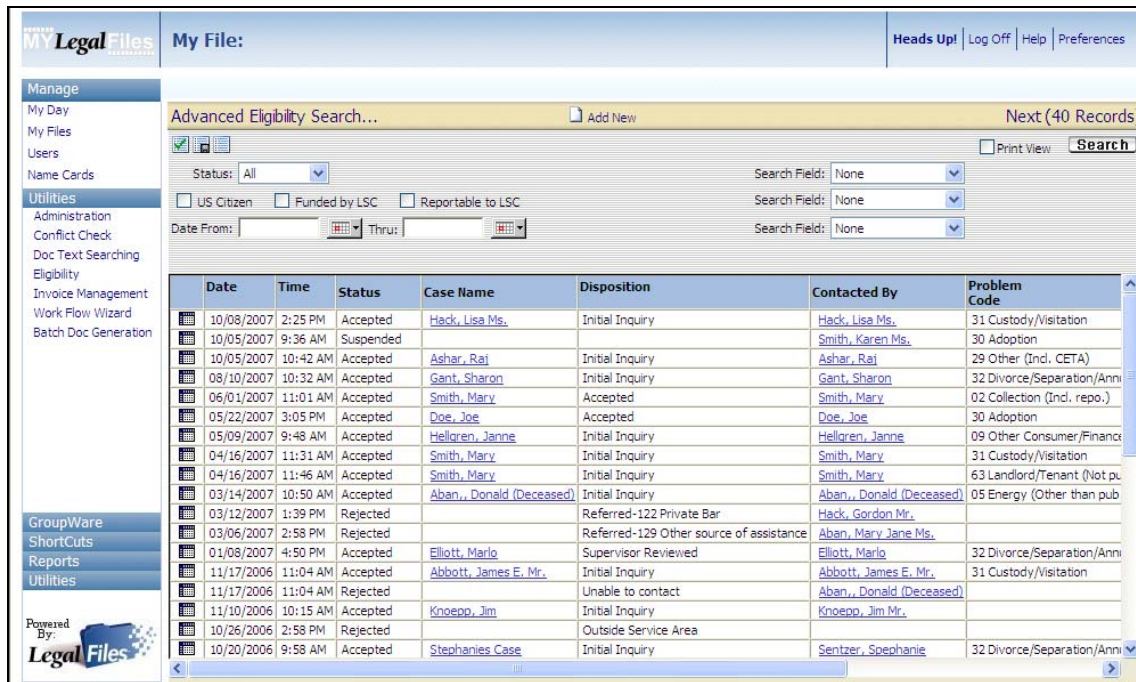

With its sophisticated combination of case management, intake/eligibility and integrated communications features, the browser based Legal Files Web is ideally suited to meet the needs of legal aid organizations like yours.

Centralized intake, conflict checking and eligibility screening

Legal Files Web efficiently manages the whole eligibility process for you. Information is created and retained for each initial inquiry, helping you maintain statistical information. No duplicate efforts are required since you don't have to re-key the same information into one system to determine eligibility and into another for case management. The centralized intake system in Legal Files Web provides a single point of entry for all screening, intake/eligibility information, demographics and scheduling of an initial client appointment.
